Credyx caller sheet

How to approach carriers on the phone · Internal · September 2026

Goal of every cold call: a 15-minute demo, or permission to text a one-pager with a booked callback. Do not onboard on the first call.

What we sell

Credyx is a back office for small carriers. After they deliver, they send the rate con, BOL and POD. We verify the paperwork, invoice the broker, follow up until they get paid, and they see every invoice on their phone.

Not factoring. We do not buy invoices, do not advance money, and never touch the freight payment. The broker pays them. We bill a small % after the money arrives.

Lead with Managed: "We do it for you." Self-Service only if they already have a bookkeeper who just wants the portal.

Never say we confirm delivery, capture POD, get paid faster, instant cash, or guarantee a pay date.

Who to call

Primary: 1–15 trucks, no factor — owner bills, or a spouse / dispatcher does it at night.

Secondary: they factor and are tired of the fee. Keep the factor if they need cash; we work alongside them at a lower rate.

Not the main target: happy factored carriers. Their factor already invoices and collects.

Call Tuesday–Thursday, 9–11am and 2–4pm in their time zone. If they are driving, lock a callback. Do not pitch someone who said they are busy.

The call

1. Opener (10 seconds)

> SAY THIS
> Hi, is this [Name]? This is [Caller] with Credyx. I'll be quick — I know you're probably driving.
> We do the billing and paperwork for small carriers. Can I ask you one question, and if it's not for you, I'll let you go?

If busy: "When's a better time today or tomorrow? Two minutes max." Lock it.

2. Discovery — this decides the pitch

> SAY THIS
> Who handles your broker invoicing right now — you, somebody in the office, or a factoring company?

Then two of: How many trucks? How long after delivery does the invoice go out? What happens when a broker sits on one? What's the most annoying part of the paperwork? Listen for Sunday-night billing, lost PODs, unpaid detention, a broker 60 days out, "my wife does it."

3. Pitch — pick one

They bill themselves (or family):

> SAY THIS
> After you deliver, you send us the rate con, BOL and POD — photo, email, or upload.
> We check the paperwork, invoice the broker, and stay on them until they pay you.
> You see every invoice on your phone — submitted, invoiced, paid, or on hold.
> The broker pays you directly. We never touch your money. This isn't factoring.

They have a factor:

> SAY THIS
> Keep them if you need the money fast. We work alongside factors.
> They check paperwork to protect their advance. When a broker short-pays or disputes, it comes back as a chargeback.
> We chase those, we handle brokers they won't buy, and you see every invoice in one place.
> Because they fund, our rate is lower — well under one percent.

Ask: "Does your factor ever decline a broker? What do you do with those?"

Bookkeeper / dispatcher bills: "You don't need to replace them — they need to stop chasing brokers. We take invoicing and follow-up. You both see every load in one portal."

4. Price — say it once, then stop

> SAY THIS
> It's a percentage of what we collect — about one and a quarter percent for a fleet your size, charged after the broker pays you. Nothing upfront.
> If a broker never pays and the invoice is written off, there's no percentage on it.
> First month: any invoice you submit has no fee.

With a factor on file: 0.70%. Do not invent a rate. Do not discount on the first call.

Monthly collected	Standard	With a factor
Under $100,000	1.25%	0.70%
$100,000 – $250,000	1.00%	0.60%
$250,000 – $500,000	0.90%	0.50%
Over $500,000	Agreed in writing	Agreed in writing

Fee is on confirmed collections only. Skip the optional $99 app fee on fleets under 10 trucks.

5. Close — pick one

> SAY THIS
> I can do a 15-minute screen share and show you what you'd see on your phone — or I text you a one-pager and call you back Thursday. Which is easier?

Write down: name, cell, email, trucks, who bills, factor Y/N, next step and date. If no: "Mind if I check back in a couple of months?" If they say don't call again, never call again.

Factoring, if they ask

Factoring is cash today. Credyx is the back office. Different products.

Factor owns the invoice (NOA). Broker pays the factor. Typical cost 2.5–3.5% plus reserves. Recourse: if the broker hasn't paid in 60–90 days, they claw the advance back. Credyx: they keep the invoice, broker pays them, about 1% after they're paid, 30 days' notice, nothing to unwind.

Never say factors don't check paperwork or don't collect — they do, for their own invoice. Never say "100% integration." Say: we keep their NOA on file, send packets the way the factor needs them, and our rate drops. If they only need cash sometimes: broker quick-pay on those loads + Credyx on everything is often cheaper than factoring 100% of volume.

Objections

They say	You say
I'm driving	Lock a two-minute callback. Do not pitch.
I already have a factor	Keep them for cash. We chase holds, short-pays, and brokers they won't buy. Rate is lower because they fund. Does your factor ever decline a broker?
My wife / dispatcher bills	She's the one we'd save time for. 15 minutes with both of you?
How much?	Answer immediately. About 1% of what we collect, after you're paid, nothing upfront, first month free.
I do it myself for free	How many hours a week? At $60k/mo we're about $750 — $25 an invoice, verified, sent, and chased. First month has no fees. Run it side by side.
Why not just factor?	If you need cash in 24 hours on every load, factor. If you don't, you're paying 3% for financing you didn't need. We're 1.25% for the back office, after you're paid.
Never heard of you	We're new — that's why the first month is free and there's no long-term contract. 30 days' notice. Try us on a month of invoices.
Do you take a cut of my payments?	No. Broker pays you. We send a separate bill for our fee.
What if the broker doesn't pay?	We follow up and help gather a bond-claim packet. If it's written off, you don't pay us a % on it.
Can you guarantee 30-day pay?	No. Anyone who says yes is selling an advance. What we control: a clean packet out fast, and someone on the broker every step.
Send me something	Text only with a booked callback. A send with no callback is a no.
I'm too small	You're who this is built for. Big fleets have an A/R department. You have a phone in a truck. We're the department.
I'll think about it	What's the one thing you'd want to see? Answer it, then book the demo.

Rules

Never say: get paid faster · same-day / instant cash · guaranteed pay date · best price on the market · unbelievable offer · factors don't verify docs · 100% factor integration · we confirm delivery / capture POD · any rate not on the table.

Always: "We are not a factoring company." Say "charged after you're paid" with every number. End with a demo, a callback, or a clean no. Ask before you text. Honor do-not-call.

After the call: text the one-pager the same hour if they said yes. Demo shows Submitted -> Verified -> Invoiced -> Paid, the vault, and a hold — demo data only. They will need: W-9 · COI · MC/DOT · voided check or bank letter · NOA if they factor · signed MSA + Fee Schedule.
