The Carrier named above (the "Carrier") agrees and confirms that Credyx A/R Solutions is authorized to act as Carrier's accounts-receivable and back-office agent in dealings with you (the broker, shipper, payor, or your AP contacts).

Credyx is not a factor, lender, or purchaser of Carrier's invoices. Unless a separate Notice of Assignment (NOA) from a third-party factor is attached to an invoice packet, this notice does not assign receivables to Credyx.

1. What Credyx is authorized to do

Carrier agrees and confirms that Credyx may, on Carrier's behalf:

1. Send documents and invoice packets (including supporting paperwork such as rate confirmations, BOLs, PODs, and related load documents) to you.

2. Submit invoices for payment for loads handled through Credyx.

3. Confirm statuses - request and receive updates on invoice acceptance, document status, holds, and payment status.

4. Follow up on any of the following related to Carrier's invoices:

- disputes and holds;
- short payments;
- claims;
- overpayments; and
- other payment or paperwork issues that affect settlement of the invoice.

5. Provide remittance information supplied by Carrier (see Section 3) so you know where payment must be sent.

6. Keep Carrier informed of material developments known to Credyx.

You may rely on communications from Credyx regarding the above as communications authorized by Carrier.

2. Documents and invoices - what Credyx may and may not change

2.1 Source paperwork - no substantive changes

Credyx will not change the substance of Carrier's source paperwork (for example Rate Confirmations, Bills of Lading, Proofs of Delivery, or similar load documents).

Automated or AI-assisted tools may be used only to enhance visibility / readability of documents when needed (for example clearer BOL images for review). Such tools will not be used to alter the substantive content of those source documents.

2.2 Invoices - billing accuracy only

Credyx may prepare, edit, or adjust invoices solely to ensure correct billing and that accurate information is listed for payment (for example amounts, references, dates, load identifiers, and required billing fields consistent with Carrier's paperwork and instructions).

3. Remittance and where payment must go

3.1 Payments go to Carrier (or Carrier's factor) - never to Credyx

- All freight payments must be made to the Carrier (or, if applicable, to Carrier's factoring company under a valid NOA), not to Credyx.
- Do not remit freight payment to Credyx under any circumstances - including if Credyx submits the invoice, follows up on status, or attaches remittance materials.
- Credyx does not receive, hold, or deposit freight payments from brokers/payors as payment of Carrier's freight.

3.2 Remittance provided at Carrier's request

- Remittance instructions and banking evidence are provided by Carrier (or at Carrier's request through Credyx).
- Credyx will include Carrier-approved remittance information with invoice packets as directed by Carrier.
- Credyx does not invent or substitute its own remittance / pay-to instructions in place of Carrier's.

3.3 Every invoice packet includes remittance

Every invoice (or invoice packet) submitted by Credyx on Carrier's behalf will include attached remittance information showing where payment must be sent (for example remittance advice, bank letter, and/or voided check, as supplied or approved by Carrier).

3.4 Factoring / Notice of Assignment (NOA)

If Carrier is under a factoring agreement, invoice packets will include the applicable Notice of Assignment (NOA) for the factoring company. In that case, pay according to the NOA (to the factor named therein), not to Credyx.

4. How to treat this notice

- This notice confirms Carrier's authorization for Credyx to perform the activities in Section 1.
- It does not make Credyx a party to your carrier-broker agreement, and it does not transfer ownership of invoices to Credyx.
- Fee arrangements between Credyx and Carrier are separate; Credyx invoices Carrier for Credyx's own service fees - those fees are not freight amounts you owe Credyx.

5. Questions

For invoice or packet questions related to this Carrier, contact Credyx at the address or email used on the invoice packet, or notices@credyx.net.

For payment destination questions, use only the remittance / NOA attached to that invoice. If remittance materials appear inconsistent, contact Credyx and Carrier before issuing payment - still do not pay Credyx.

6. Carrier acknowledgement

Carrier acknowledges that brokers and payors may rely on this notice and on remittance / NOA materials included with invoice packets.
